Dear Mr. Gore,

Thank you for your letter of April 10, 2014, introducing Mr. Ken Berlin as the new President and CEO of The Climate Reality Project. This is very welcome news for all of us who support awareness of climate change and its importance. It is my privilege to work alongside both yourself and Mr. Berlin in this important work.

There are important aspects of controlling climate change which have surfaced in my research, and I would like to ask your help regarding the best way to bring about understanding of the reality of these techniques and technologies, and their relevance to the situation in today's world.

The pyramids in ancient Egypt were not just fancy tombs for departed Pharaohs, but also served many important, practical functions, on a wide scale, in everyday life. Many of these functions involved the control of both weather and climate.

I need your counsel and advice on how best to present these insights in a clear and understandable way, so the modern world can realize and reap the benefits from them.

The findings of my research are outlined in my book, "The Pyramids' Mysteries Resolved: Scientific Solutions to Challenges Regarding the Earth's Magnetic Field and Climate Change." When the first edition was published in 2011, a copy was provided to President Obama. With no response from the White House, we proceeded to provide the information to other world leaders.

Please find enclosed your copy of this important research.

At your service,

Sincerely,
Bernard C. Magnongui
Project Manager

Dear Bernard C.,

An old African proverb says, "if you want to go quickly, go alone; if you want to go far, go together."

To solve the climate crisis, we have to go far ... quickly. And together.

That's why I'm delighted to announce a very special addition to The Climate Reality Project -- our new President and CEO, Ken Berlin.

If there's anyone who knows the importance of working together to implement the solutions that will lead us into a clean-energy future, it's Ken. Having worked in environmental law and policy for more than 35 years, he knows the work you're doing as a Climate Reality supporter is absolutely vital to solving the climate crisis. As Ken recently said to me:

Now more than ever, we need a large corps of climate change leaders who can speak to and reach out to their communities with a message that develops the support needed to change the culture and politics of climate change, and which convinces our political, social and business leaders to do the right thing and embrace the solutions at our fingertips. I'm proud to be joining the Climate Reality Project at this key moment.

I couldn't agree more. In addition to 35 years of experience, Ken is one of the top climate change lawyers in the U.S. As Executive Vice President at the Coalition for Green Capital, Ken helped establish some of the first Green Banks -- banks with an aim to provide low cost financing for clean energy and energy efficiency projects. Ken is also a member of President Obama's Environmental & Energy Policy Group and served as Chairman of the Board of the Environmental Law Institute, and has been on the Board and National Counsel of many other environmental groups.

So, to state the obvious, I am deeply impressed by Ken's wealth of expertise on climate issues and his passionate commitment to the climate fight. As we continue to communicate both the urgency of the climate crisis and the reality of the solutions at hand around the world, Ken's vision, knowledge, and global understanding of climate change will prove invaluable to the work you and I do together.

We are honored to welcome him on board, and I hope you'll join me in wishing him a warm welcome when he starts later this month.

Sincerely,

Al Gore
Founder and Chairman
